

HYBRID WORKWEAR™

How people in our society work has changed over the decades, and we have become experts at adapting to a variety of work tasks and technical challenges. Today many disciplines and roles overlap with each other. This results in increased collaboration and the development of more innovative products and services. But it also places requirements and expectations on us to do more, deliver faster and be more flexible during our working day.

Texstar develops hybrid work clothes for driven teams. Clothes that adapt to the tasks at hand and the people performing them. Our extensive range offers something for everyone – whatever their role, work tasks, body shape or taste.

From the office to the field. For sunny mornings and windy nights. For today and tomorrow. Texstar – Hybrid Workwear.™